Lori La Bey Holds Age Sensitivity Course

Real estate agent with RE/MAX associates plus, Lori La Bey will be offering her Age Sensitivity Course to North High School students several times throughout 2007. La Bey is the owner of "Classic Lifestyles®," which assists seniors and their families, as well as builders, mortgage brokers, attorneys, accountants, financial planners and others involved in housing for seniors.

"The Age Sensitivity class is taught at the high school level and is a fun-filled hour with hands on simulation exercises and stories the kids can relate to. We discuss their impact on not only our elderly but with and every person they come in contact with," stated La Bey.

The activities include simulations where students are able to experience what it is like to walk with various foot problems senior citizens experience, see when their vision is impaired, open a prescription bottle with arthritis, and speak after a stroke.
